Prince Leopold Hohenzollern who has lately become, suddenly, of importance, as a candidate for the throne of Spain, and who is so stongly opposed by France, is not Spanish or even half Spanish, but a mixture of German and Corsican blood. His father was the son of the Princess Marie Antoinette Murat, who was the daughter of Marshal Joachim Murat by his wife, Caroline Bonaparte, sister of the first Emperor. His mother was Stephanie Beauharnais, daughter of Josephine Beauharnais, and an adopted daughter of the great Napoleon. His relationship to the present Emperor of France is, therefore, that of a cousinship thrice removed.

The Norfolk Virginian learns that the colored squatters have all been removed from Taylor's farm except about ten families, who have made contracts with the rightful owner of the place, and will remain there. Of the number removed, about two hundred families have moved out of the county, nearly all of whom migrated to Hampton and up York river. The 11. S. soldiers were ordered not to assist the Sheriff of the county; but, with a posse of twenty five men, he proceeded to perform his duty, and effected the removal without disturb-

This, if so, is about as mean a thing, as has been recorded recently.

REMARKS OF MR. McKenzie, in the House of Representatives on the contested election between Booker and Tucker:

Mr. McKenzie-Mr. Speaker, the short time the House has to sit at this session admonishes me to be brief, as it ought to admonish the long-winded gentlemen on this floor to be brief in reference to this case of Mr. Booker. Now, so far as the question of the loyalty of Mr. Booker is concerned, it depends very much on how a man feels. If a man is honest and feels in his conscience that he is right, he need not care for the world, the flesh, or the devil.

Now, sir, I have no doubt, I never had any doubt, of the loyalty of Mr. Booker. I have known him long, and I never had any doubt about his loyalty, although I knew him to be a timid man. I did not see the testimony until I saw it printed. If I had seen it, I would have a plan, looking to the maintainance of the presdoubtless, be ordered to strike quick and hard." | 1 saw it printed. If I had seen it, I would have ent Conservative organization and to more advised him as a prudent man, in view of all the control of the pasts. the circumstances, to apply to the House to relieve him from disabilities. But, sir, I know of my own knowledge, from the relations in which I stood to the late distinguished John Minor Botts, and from the correspondence which took place between Mr. Booker and Mr. Botts during the rebellion, that Booker was a loyal, although a timid man. Perhaps he did not believe-I do not know his religious sentiments, only he does not belong to the church I belong to, the Presbyterian, and perhaps he did not believe-that whatever is to be must be. [Laughter.]

All Jefferson Davis's forces would never have got me to swear allegiance to the rebel government, if I had been hung for it. But, as regards Mr. Booker, here is a letter from Hon. Alexander Rives, one of the most loyal men in Virginia; also letters from C. Y. Thomas, A Washington dispatch states that while and R. M. Hughes, which I send to the desk to be read. These letters testilying to the "loyalty" and "republicanism" of Mr. Booker were then read. Mr. C. Y. Thomas in his letter says, that "under distress, and pressure, during the war Mr. Booker may, and doubtless did, say and do some things susceptible of an unfavorable construction, but which were well known and understood by the Union men." Now, just let me say to the House and to you, Mr. Speaker, that John Minor Botts preserved every letter that he ever received up to the day of his death. When he died a lot of the old letters were burned, and among others thes: of Mr. Booker. But a Senator from Virginia, Mr. Lewis, saw the correspondence which was conducted between Mr. Booker and Mr. Botts during the time of the rebellion. Not before or after, Mr. Speaker, because in the South it was a great deal easier to be a Inion man after the rebellion than during the time of it. None of your babies would do for that. | Laughter. | Well all that correspondence - and Senator Lewis has seen itshows that the sentiments of Mr. Booker during that time were loyal.

I will do Mr. Booker the justice to say that he was a very timid man, and I am very sorry that he had anything to do with sending supplies to the rebel troops out there. But, as I have said, he was a timid man, with a large family, and there was great allowance to be made for him. He would have done better to have acted in a way to show that he cared for no man: still I have not the least doubt as to his loyalty. That is my view of the case, and I hope the House will admit this gentleman.

I do not feel much sympathy with the gentlemen who have spoken on this subject on behalf of Vermont. It was long after these events that Mr. Tucker left Vermont to come into the Commonwealth of Virginia, and he had no knowledge of what had been going on there. He came in after the war into Fairfax county, and after that he emigrated into the county of Henry, to run for Congress against. this gentleman, believing that he could rely upon getting a large colored vote. I think the House should admit Mr. Booker. I have no tribution of $25,000,000 is retained, as is also doubt they ought to do it, and I hope they

The House amendments to the Tax bill were agreed to, and the bill now only lacks the signature of the Governor to become a law. A motion to permit a sub committee of the Committee on Public Institutions to visit the Lunatic Asylum during the recess, with power to appoint a clerk, with per diem, &c., was

Prior to the adjournment of the Legislature, on the 11th, it is understood that some of the Conservative members will endeavor to initiate thoroughly unite the party. An effort is to be made to rescind to much of the resolution for a recess as relates so the re-assembling of the General Assembly in Oc tober, but it is doubtful if it will carry, the question of reapportionment and other matters, including amendments to the election law-which is very defective-making it, in the opinion of many, almost necessary for an early Fall session. However, the attempt will be made.

All kinds of issues, it is reported, are to be made in the approaching canvass, and without care and caucuses the conservative strength may be very much weakened. When the Rad icals are not in the majority, "independent' candidates are to be run and an attempt thus made to distract the Conservative vote.

Congress.-In the Senate yesterday, the Judiciary Committee was discharged from the consideration of the petitions for female suffrage. The President was requested to communicate full information regarding commerce | the next Congress of the United States, subject between the United States and the Spanish to the action of a convention of the Conservcolonies, and between the colonies and other nations, with a view to the enlargement of our commercial interest. The House bill requiring National banks going into liquidation to retire their circulating notes was passed. The Naval Appropriation bill was taken up, and an amendment to increase the pay of officers of and below the rank of Lieutenant was rejected. A debate upon the condition of the Navy arose on an amendment to prevent the assignment of re tired officers to duty, and it was finally voted down, and the bill was then passed. The bill to fix a uniform time for the election of mem bers of the House of Representatives was taken up, and the bill fixing the number of members at three hundred was added to it in the shape of an amendment, and it was then adopted. It provides that, commencing with the year 1872, the elections for Representatives in all the States shall take place on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November. At the evening session the Army bill was debated and laid In the House of Representatives yesterday the amended Tax bill was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. The case of Pat Woods was taken up, and the resolution to imprison him in the District of Columbia Jail for three months as punishment for his assault on Mr. Porter, was adopted. The conference committee on the Currency bill reported an amended bill, which was adopted, in the same form as already passed by the Senate. In addition to $45,000,000, as provided in the Senate bill they have added $10,000,000 more, making $55,000,000 retiring only $45,000,000 three per cts. WALTHAM WATCHES.

The extensive use of these watches for the st lifteen years by Railway Conductors, Engincers, and Expressmen, the most exacting of watch-wearers, has thoroughly demonstrated the strength, steadiness, durability and accuracy of the Waltham Watch. To satisfy that class in all these respects, is to decide the question as to the real value of these time-keepers.

More than 450,000 of these watches are now speaking for themselves in the pockets of the people-a proof and a guarantee of their superiority over all others.

The superior organization and great extent of the Company's Works at Waltham, enable them to produce watches at a price which ren ders competition futile, and those who buy any other watch, merely pay from 25 to 50 per cent more for their watches than is necessary.

We are now selling Waltham Watches at less prices in greenbacks than the gold prices before the war. There is no other manufacture of any kind in the United States of which this

These time-pieces combine every improvement that a long experience has proved of real practical use. Having had the refusal of nearly every invention in watchmaking originating in this country or in Europe, only those were finally adopted which severe testing by the most skillful artisans in our works, and long use on the part of the public, demonstrated to be essential to correct and enduring time keep-

Among the many improvements we would particularize :

The invention and use of a centre-pinion of peculiar construction, to prevent damage to the train by the breakage of main springs, is original with the American Watch Company, who, having had the refusal of all other contrivances, adopted Fogg's Patent pinion as being the best and faultless.

Hardened and tempered hair springs, now universally admitted by watchmakers to the best, are used in all grades of Waltham Watches. All Waltham Watches have dust-proof caps, protecting the movement from dust and lessening the necessity of the frequent cleaning, necossary in other watches.

Our new patentstem-winder, or keyless watch, s already a decided success and a great improvement on any stem-winding watch in the American market, and by far the cheanast watch of its quality now offered to the public. To those living in all portions of the U.S. where watchmakers do not abound, watches with the above-mentioned improvements which tend to nsure accuracy, cleanliness, durability and convenience, must prove invaluable.

Every watch guaranteed by the Company. To prevent imposition, buyers should see that every watch should bear either of the following trade marks: American Watch Co...... Waltham, Mass.
